

Technical Resource Centre, Department of Health Research, Government of India-ICMR, Rajendra Institute of Medical Sciences, Ranchi invites letter to intent for conducting Diagnostic Test Accuracy Meta-Analysis

The Technical Resource Centre (TRC), Department of Laboratory Medicine, RIMS, Ranchi invites applications for its upcoming six months guided training and mentorship program Diagnostic Test Accuracy Meta-analysis. The intensive hands-on program features:

- Research question formulation
- Step-by-step guidance in conducting a Diagnostic test accuracy meta-analysis
- Data extraction, statistical synthesis and interpretation
- Manuscript preparation and publication under proper reporting guidelines

Workshop Highlights

- Mode: Bimodal (Online + Offline sessions)
- Duration: 6 months (Dates to be announced shortly)
- Batch Size: Limited to 15 participants only
- Mentorship: Continuous guidance by the Technical Resource Centre Research Team

Interested candidates are requested to submit the following to the e-mail address: ebmrims@gmail.com

1. A Letter of Intent expressing your motivation to join the workshop.
2. A Concise CV, clearly mentioning any prior experience in conducting or participating in meta-analyses.

Applications will be reviewed by the TRC team, and a maximum of 15 participants will be shortlisted based on eligibility, intent, and research experience.

Team members:

Dr. Amit Kumar, Associate Professor, Department of Laboratory Medicine (Principal Investigator)

Dr. Manoj Kumar Prasad, Additional Professor, Department of Medicine

Dr. Anupa Prasad, Additional Professor, Biochemistry and Genetics of Genomics

Dr. Arpita Rai, Additional Professor, Dental Institute

Dr. Ankita Tandon, Additional Professor, Dental Institute

Dr. Shreya Chatterjee, Research Associate III, Department of Laboratory Medicine